Sierra Advanced Technology, Inc.1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to an automatic document feeder having an open and close system which is capable of setting a document height. 2. Description of Related Art The quality of a document reading unit of an automatic document feeder is determined by the distance from the document reading unit to a document. If the document is not set at a certain height, the document reading unit may not appropriately read the image of the document. This is the case even if the document reading unit is set to a predetermined height. A document is set to a predetermined height by a user. That is, the user sets the document at a height where the document can be read by the document reading unit. However, in order to place the document reading unit
